On the other hand, these Southern Know-Nothings did contend most lustily that they were the very ultra Southern party themselves. Taev demonstrated one day that the Demorrats were a Southern sectional party, and the next day they demonstrated that they were more Northern than the Republicans, or quite as much so. They would not give the toss of a copper between them. So the contest went on The people were not deceived; at least the people of the South. They understood it then, and they understand it now. They knew that the Democrats would stultify themselves if they allowed the Federal Government to determine the institutions of any State to be formed out of our Territories. They have proclaimed the doctrine of non-intervention everywhere, and deny that they have in any case departed from it, either by direct or indirect action. The entire contest on the part of the Black Republicans was to make Kansas a free State by the action of Congress. Slavery was prohibited by the act of 1820. The Man in the Balloon on Lake Erie.

We noticed in yesterday's paper the fact of a man being pieked up recently by a propeller on Lake Erie, he alighting in a balloon. The Detroit Free Press gives the particulars of the affair as follows:

The balloon was about two and a half miles igh when first seen. He procured a telescope, and bringing it to bear on the object, ascertain ed at once that it was a large balloon, with man in the ear attached underneath. Compre-hending the danger to which the seronaut was ubjected, as night was coming on, and the wind was blowing a heavy gale and increasing tast, he immediately ordered the flag hoisted and the whistle sounded. When this had beer done, the aronaut waved a small flag in return, and commenced descending. The balloon was at this time about fifteen miles distant from the propeller, and driving on toward her at the errific speed of sixty or seventy miles an hour-The balloon continued descending with great veocity until it struck the water, about one mile o windward of the propeller.

The aeronaut was buried in the water, but was soon released from his uncomfortable situ ation, as the balloon, with the effects of the re eoil, sprang into the air, and made a bound about a hundred feet in hight and a quarter of a mile in lengsh. It then struck again, and re ounded in like manner, and continued taking he same terrific leaps, dragging its passenge through the water—now completely submerged and again flying through the air, in a manne entirely uncontrollable. It bore down upon the propeller, however, in its mad career, and passed some twenty or twenty five rods astern, where a boat, containing two mates and a crew, were waiting its arrival. It passed over them and the men caught the grapnel that was hung out, and secured it in the bow of the boat. Mi einer jumped out and reached the boat by wimming, and an effort was made to return t he propkiler.

A tremendous gale was blowing by this time, and the balloon started off to leeward, earrying he yawl-boat and its crew off at a rate of fit teen or twenty miles an hour. Captain Wood-ruff shouted to the mate to shift the grapnel to the stern of the boat, and pull with the oars, so as to hold his way against it, until the propeller ald run down and pick them up. In attempting to do this, the line to which the grapnel was attached was jerked from their hands with irresistible force, and the balloon ascended, and was out of sight in less than one minute. The

Mr. Steiner states that he started from Eric at about half-past three in the alternoon, with the intention of taking a trip to Canada before night. He had intended to have started in the rning, but was prevented by the rainy weath-The balloon rose to the hight of three niles, and was driven by a favorable wind acro the lake, and arrived within three miles of the Canada shore, when the wind changed and blew him back, half-way across the lake. Another strong current then struck him, which earried him down the lake toward Buffalo at railroad speed. He was on this course when he iscovered the propeller, at nearly the time that he was discovered by Captain Wood ruff. He commenced letting off the gas, and descended in time to reach the boat as described. His escape was a narrow one, for if the boat's erew had been unable to secure the rope as passed them at his fearful rate of speed, he must have drowned, as no person could withstand being dragged through the water at a ve-locity of fifty miles an hour for any great length

Captain Woodruff says that he was as eoo Nothings and Black Republicans deceive and betray each other. The Democrats have published their objects and creed everywhere. The factions have toiled day and night to misrepresent the Democracy, and mis-lead the people. It will not delude any Democrat to be told that the Democracy protested that they would make the protection and deliberate, when he had got through with the dangerous affair, as though he had been stiting on the deek as a witness, instead of acting as the principal participant. He called for some brandy and water, and sat down to supper as if nothing had happened. The loss of the balloon seemed to be his only concern, as it cost him $500, but he said that it wouldn't take long to make another. He hopes to recover it somewhere on the Canada shore.
